CITY GAS SERVICE TURNED ON

Fire Whistle Blasts Proclaim Good Tidings of A Dream Realized.

Repeated sounds of the city's fire whistle on Wednesday afternoon, officially proclaimed that the city's new gas system had been opened for general use, and the service was available to all users.

This is the realization of a long-cherished dream on the part of our people, and while the first siren-like blasts startled our people into the belief there was a fire, information soon became wide spread when it was revealed what the announcement (and not an alarm) was.

Major Blaize and City Commissioners Bourgeois and Perkins were equally as jubilant as our people and the community in general, for they had worked hard and long for realization of the project. Mr. Littell of the Littell Construction Company, contractors, was equally elated and expressed satisfaction his contract had been executed.

Natural gas in Bay St. Louis is now a reality. The service may be obtained by applying at the City Hall.

HANCOCK RESIDENT DIES AT 86

Well-Known Citizen, William Marks Favre, Resident of Ansley, Laid To Rest.

William Marks Favre, resident of Ansley, Hancock county, died at his home Sunday July 2, 1939, at 6:30 o'clock that evening, following a comparatively short illness, preceded by a stroke.

Mr. Favre was a native of Hancock county, aged 86 years, 10 months and 22 days, nearing his 87th birthday. He was a man of splendid health and robust constitution and the news of his sudden ailment and subsequent death was quite a shock to his friends and acquaintances, despite his advanced age.

The remains were conveyed to the Fahey Funeral Home, Bay St. Louis, and laid out there Monday night and the funeral took place Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock from Bayou Cadet church, where the Rev. Victor Boisvert officiated at a requiem mass and the funeral ceremony incidental to the funeral and burial, interment at Mulatto Bayou cemetery.

In addition to the large family surviving, Mrs. George L. Cuevas, of Bay St. Louis, wife of the county assessor, was a daughter of the deceased.

He was the husband of Emelina Cuevas, was father of Mrs. Alcay Ladnier of Saucier, Miss., Mrs. Geo. L. Cuevas of Bay St. Louis, Miss., Mrs. Victor Thian of New Orleans, La., T. Dan Favre and George W. Favre of New Orleans, La., and the late Nellie Favre Smitherman and the late W. C. Favre, also survived by 15 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mr. Favre had a long and active career and was one of the best known men of this county and particularly of this section. He was for many years a contractor and builder and was also well known as captain of boats. He was a man of great versatility, capable of accomplishing anything he put his hand to. A splendid mixer and good conversationalist and quite a reconteur. He was the possessor of a rich store of knowledge and was interesting at all times. His passing away removes a worthy citizen and one whose memory will long live in the minds and hearts of the many who knew him.

SUPERVISORS' RACE FROM BEAT FIVE HAS MANY CONTESTANTS

The Office More Numerously Contested For Than Any Other—Eight Announce.

Saturday of this week will be the last day for any candidate to register and file his application of their intention of becoming a candidate for the forthcoming primaries, August 8, and the 22. Secretary Lamar Otis of the County Democratic Committee, under the Corrupt Practices Act, says it's the last day.

There are already quite a number of candidates but even at that, it is stated, there are not as many as were in the running four years ago in Hancock county.

However, for the race of Supervisor from Beat 5 (Bay St. Louis and adjoining beat area) there are eight avowed or announced candidates. This seems to be the office most sought after. Present incumbent is the Hon. T. Ed. Kellar, who is a candidate for re-election.

Here is the list of eight, in alphabetical arrangement:

Charles Bandert, Randolph Bourgeois, Harry C. Glover, former Bay St. Louis postmaster; T. Ed. Kellar, Claude Monti, present tax-collector and sheriff; Dan Ladner of Lakeshore; Ed. P. Orte of Clermont section; and Terrell Perkins, local realtor.

Because of the unusual number of candidates this race seems to attract the most interest.

FIVE CARS INVOLVED IN MISHAP

Congested Front Street Is Scene of Auto Accident Sunday Afternoon.

On Sunday evening about six o'clock on North Front street in the block between the A. & G. Theater and Main street, there occurred an automobile accident involving five cars. The street lined on either side with parked cars and with an unusual amount of traffic due to the Fourth of July weekend, was narrowed down to hardly more than one lane route, when a car driven by Miss Irma Fayard, in a southerly direction struck a car driven by C. S. D'Amico of 1518 Dryades street, New Orleans, going north. Miss Fayard lost control of the car and side-swiped a car belonging to James Taconi, causing Taconi to collide with his brother, Joseph Taconi's car, and Taconi's car then crashed into the rear of Mrs. Vincent Morreale's car. The two Taconi automobiles and that of Mrs. Morreale were badly damaged, but fortunately no one suffered any injuries, except that Miss Fayard was considerably nervous but afterwards was able to continue on her way.

NEW DORMITORY BUILDING.

The large new dormitory building erected in place of the old building recently demolished on the grounds of the Orelia H. Diehlman Evangelical Center on the Waveland Beach front has been completed and has received its first coat of paint. The building is used as a summer camp for children and each summer provides vacation periods for hundreds of children from New Orleans who otherwise would not see the seashore. Additional dormitories are planned and when completed, this will be one of the finest summer camps on the Gulf Coast. Contractor Arthur Johnson erected the present building.

Thomas L. Bailey will speak in Bay St. Louis at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, July 12, in the interest of his candidacy for governor.

Mr. Bailey, for 24 years a member of the legislature, will bring a platform emphasizing increased farm family income, permanent homestead exemption, crop insurance and a council of men and women actually living on farms to shape farm legislation.

He says he will ask for constitutional amendment to make homestead exemption a fixture in the policies of state government, and that he will continue and develop Governor White's balance agriculture with industry program.

Mr. Bailey was one of the administration's right hand men in steering through homestead exemption and other administration programs.

He was born 50 years ago on a Webster county farm, was elected to the legislature from Lauderdale county in 1913, and became speaker of the house in 1924, when Henry L. Whitfield took office. His 24 years as house speaker is the longest period any man ever presided over either branch of the legislature.

TWO LARGE PALMS REPLANTED

The two large palms which graced the front grounds of Christ Church at Carroll avenue and North Front street and which had grown to such size as to almost obscure the front of the building were removed last week by the Bay Gardens and planted on their grounds. The ladies of the Episcopate Guild are planning to have the grounds landscaped in the fall at proper planting time, and it is expected that this will add materially to the appearance of the church property, this pretty and quaint church being one of the Bay's prettiest landmarks visible to tourists arriving by way of the Highway bridge.

Information given out by members of the St. Margaret's Daughters organization is to the effect that an animal show will be showing shortly on the vacant lot on Beach Front near Main street. The show is being sponsored by the Daughters and will add funds which are greatly needed. Be on your guard boys and girls—the show is coming!

SPECIAL FEATURE FOR LITTLE FAIR GROUNDS SUNDAY

Races Between Seven Coast And County Horses Are Scheduled—Other Amusements.

The races and amusements at the Little Fair Grounds last Sunday pleased a large attendance and proved that the people respond to our efforts to provide pleasure at practically no cost to them.

The Junior Police Brass Band of New Orleans composed of capable musicians and willing to play for the entertainment of the crowd, added a great deal to the program.

The feature of next Sunday's race will be the contest between seven runners from Biloxi against seven of our horses from this section to decide the best four out of the seven. The management made a special trip to Biloxi to definitely secure the

GULFPORT HANCOCK BANK.

LAST week The Echo published a news story, accompanied with an illustration of the building, that the Gulfport Hancock Bank was moving into larger and more commodious quarters, from its own property-owned domicile.

The new quarters are in the former Gulfport Bank, a sky-scraper office building, the ground floor of which was especially designed for the accommodation of a large and progressive bank.

That the Hancock Bank's activities have increased and its general business extended to such a point, warranting this move, is, indeed, not only of interest but of moment. It means for two things, among other elements of success, that the city of Gulfport is forging ahead and that the bank is keeping pace with the city's phenomenal expansion, business and financial growth.

It is an outstanding evidence of the bank's success and enterprise and that the people of that section of the Coast fully recognize the fact that the Hancock came to Gulfport where there was no bank there and offered its unlimited service, regardless of the uncertainty of conditions at that time.

The Hancock Bank is to be congratulated on its latest achievement and the best wishes are offered for its continued success; may its stride continue and may it ever keep step with the trend of times.

MISSISSIPPI FARM AND HOME WEEK

E. H. White, state director of extension, has announced farm and home week will be held at State College July 25-27. Visitors will arrive on Monday afternoon, July 24, and return home on Friday, the 28th.

The program will include demonstrations, discussions, tours, conferences, addresses, recreation, community singing and special entertainment features.

Speakers for the general assembly program each morning are: Loy E. Rast Soil Conservation Service, Spartanburg, S. C.; J. E. Sanford, editor, Southern Agriculturist, Nashville and C. Hohn, Extension Service, College Station, Texas.

RECOGNIZING GULF COAST AS VACATION LAND.

TAKING cognizance of the summer vacation season, the Mississippi Advertising Commission's newspaper feature story series of July will deal with the Mississippi Coast and statistical information on financial benefits derived by the state from the Commission's tourist program. The Coast story depicts recent and possible future developments in that section of the state, and the story on the tourist program gives proof to the statement that it has aided in increasing business volume of all trades devoted to the tourist industry.

HOLLYWOOD'S WORST.

THE world has taken a lot from Hollywood but this latest idea that animal sounds, passing through human mouths, will be fashioned into words may be the last straw.

Then, should one see a picture, depicting the lambs at play, their innocent noises will be translated into words by corrupt human beings. True, the lambs, and other animals, will not understand what the human beings put into their mouths, so to speak, but it is a safe bet, if they did, they would stop their gambols or go on a hunger strike.

PAVING STREETS WITH COTTON.

GREENVILLE, in the heart of the cotton country, has inaugurated a program of street paving with cotton fabric, believed to be the nation's first municipal paving program with the use of cotton.

City Engineer Frank Hall said the program of street paving by the WPA will include 55 city blocks. The blacktopping program was started in the southern part of the city. Cotton membrane, asphalt and gravel were the materials to be used.

There are more than 160 varieties of mosquitos in the United States according to Dr. George E. Riley, of the State Board of Health. He states there are about 35 known types in Mississippi.

The press of the State mourns the death of Frank P. Cashman, editor of the Vicksburg Post and Herald, who died last week. Mr. Cashman was not only an outstanding citizen of Vicksburg and Warren county, but one of the foremost journalists of Mississippi.

Mrs. Addie McBryde, director of blind workers' projects in Mississippi, has been advised by a telegram from Robert B. Irwin, New York head of the National Foundation for the Blind, that if the present WPA bill now pending in the Senate is passed all WPA blind workers will be thrown out of employment.

Thousands of persons from New Orleans and other places visited Bay St. Louis for the Fourth of July celebrations. Many house parties were held affording pleasures enjoyed by vacationists and tourists. This section of the Mississippi Gulf Coast is a favorite resort section.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

M. and Mrs. John A. Green, residents of Bay St. Louis, on Monday of this week celebrated the golden anniversary of their wedding. This is an unusual event, a most happy one, and it is well that our people united in extending congratulations and best wishes; heartiest felicitations to this estimable couple, who, all down the years, have shared in the joys and vicissitudes of the community.

This half century of time was spent in Bay St. Louis and this fact of the anniversary is all the more interesting and brings it closer home—to the hearts and minds of their friends and acquaintances who reside here.

Only a few years since Mr. Green celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his active connection with the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company as its resident representative and agent, a record seldom equaled. His employers fully recognized the value of his time and accompanying service and did not fail in the fullest measure to recognize this unusual attainment and well might we say achievement. Mr. Green retired not only rich in memories of a service of manifold value but with a wealth of satisfaction that he had served in that capacity that results in maximum measure.

And now the golden anniversary of another period in life's journey, as husband and father of a fine family of men and women who have taken their places in life—all useful men and women. A family united with the ties of love and devotion and outstanding as a Christian one. Truly an exemplary family. In this his devoted helpmate has well taken her part, sharing equally in a stewardship that is above reproach and leaves nothing to be asked for. It is such men and women and their children who make for the ideal life, who create the finer things in life worth living for, and, who in turn, shed the lustre of the glory of a life well spent.

The Echo joins the many, who pray for a long continuance of this ennobling life, with its precious precepts; that the community may continue to enjoy having in its midst such people who stand out in bold relief against the things that are worth while and blessed.

HENRY FORD'S DREAM COMES TRUE.

IN 1893, a young man visited the Chicago Exposition where he saw a fire-wagon, with an engine-driven pump.

Three years later, this young man was driving his first horseless carriage and ready to fulfill his pledge to "make a buggy that will go without a horse and make it so cheap that those who cannot afford a horse and buggy can have this."

Ten years after the Chicago Exposition, this man organized the Ford Motor Company, with a paid-in capital of $28,000. This month, visiting the New York World's Fair, Mr. Ford was greeted by the 27,000,000 car to bear his name.

There are those who do not agree with many of the policies of Mr. Ford but few Americans can read this thumb-nail sketch of modern industry without admiration for the man behind it. Undoubtedly, to Henry Ford the American people owe the development of cheap transportation. His leadership, we believe, is responsible for the low cost at which modern automobiles now sell. Without his leadership, the possession of an automobile would probably have been a mark of fortune and motor vehicles might have remained in the exclusive possession of men of means.

The automobile industry, as a whole, has created a new epoch in American history, transforming social and business almost everywhere. Quite properly the present has been called the "automobile age." The living habits of a people have been changed by the "horseless buggy."

In this accomplishment, Mr. Ford has been a leader, deserving the admiration of Americans and all those who admire a man who does something worthwhile.

A DEADLY CELEBRATION.

ON Tuesday of this week, the people of the United States celebrated the one hundred sixtieth anniversary of the passage of the Declaration of Independence by the Continental Congress in 1776.

While no figures are available the experience of former years leads to the conclusion that hundreds of persons were injured in fireworks accidents. In fact, some authorities maintain that more American lives have been lost in celebrating the independence of the nation than were lost in acquiring it.

Fireworks are dangerous. Nobody denies it but few communities attempt to present spectacles and displays to satisfy the demand for some entertainment on the national holiday. It is about time for the people of this country to sensibly celebrate the Fourth of July. Let's see if it can be done next year?

TELEPHONE LINES IN SOUTH MISSISSIPPI.

THREE-HUNDRED Twenty-seven miles of Mississippi Forestry Commission telephone line have been constructed or reconditioned, through WPA workers in South Mississippi protection counties, according to District Ranger C. O. Batson of Wiggins. The work included construction of fifty miles of new line. Four-thousand eight-hundred telephone poles have been cut, peeled, hauled, and treated in George, Harrison, Hancock, and Jackson counties. Mr. Batson says that before the year is out, most of the Commission's telephone lines in South Mississippi will be in excellent condition for service during 1939-40 fire season.

WARNING TO VACATIONISTS.

MR. Kroeze, state sanitary engineer of the Board of Health has warned the vacation traveler as follows: "Do not drink water from a doubtful source be it ever so sparkling. To bend over a bubbling spring on hands and knees may give you a sense of adventure and the spirit of Daniel Boone, and few creeks, springs, rivers, lakes or bodies of water of any kind are safe from sewerage contamination of nearby cities."

With The Press

REGRETTABLE.

(Slidell News)

THE disclosure of the short-age in the accounts of Dr. James Monroe Smith, in Louisiana State University funds, has shocked, not only the public but state officials as well.

Smith, a well paid and trusted employee of the state, can offer no other excuse for his conduct and embezzlement, other than greed, and can hardly expect any better treatment, when apprehended, than that accorded to any criminal, in fact, we see no reason why he should expect even as much leniency as that given to a common thief, as his offense is more heinous in that he has not only committed theft he has betrayed those who trusted him and who made his success possible.

Smith's acts are indeed regrettable, coming as it does on the eve of election for national and every bound to reflect on every public official in the state. However, his apprehension and subsequent punishment, will go a long way toward re-establishing public confidence in our offices.

Little can be accomplished by making the innocent suffer for the acts of one man.

COMMUNITY BUILDERS.

(Yazoo City Sentinel)

ONE of the best community builders is the merchant who runs an up-to-date store, clean, well lighted, with a stock ample to meet the needs of the community in which he is located, well merchandised, well displayed and liberally advertised. A town may have fine streets and good homes, well kept and well cared for, but it is the live, progressive, up-to-date merchants that bring business into the town. The automobile has made it possible for people to get about more than they used to and as a result they have become more discriminating buyers than they once were. They are no longer satisfied with a dingy, poorly lighted, ill-kept store, with shop-worn merchandise, poorly displayed. They have come to know the more modern up-to-date merchandising and the old type has lost its attraction and appeal. One good, live, up-to-date merchant in a town, who advertises his store and his services liberally will bring more trade to the town than any other single thing, and incidentally a group of such merchants will build a modern city out of a cross roads village because trade from far and near will seek the thing and the service it desires wherever it is to be found.

MAN, UNDECIDED, SHOPS AROUND FOR BRIDE.

A young man timidly presented himself in the marriage license office at Elberton, Ga.

"Could I, he faltered, "get my $4 back on this license I bought yesterday?"

"Did the young lady go back on you?" inquired C. B. Thompson, solicitously.

No. I just got to wondering if I was taking the right one of all the girls I've been going around with."

"Well you keep the license, and if you decide to change girls I'll change the name on it."

"Fair enough." And the young man strode out.

Bilbo Seeks Aid For Farmers in Upstate Region

Senator Bilbo, (D., Miss.) took up with President Roosevelt the problem of relief for farmers in six counties of northeastern Mississippi, who, he said, needed help because of record heavy rains.

"I think we will get what it takes," the senator told reporters.

He said the counties had had excessive rain and farmers had planted twice after the seeds were washed out and it was too late to plant again.

Bilbo said he presumed the only route for relief would be through extra WPA projects. In addition he said, the farmers would need extensions of seed and resettlement loans.

CHADDY'S CHATS FROM HOLLYWOOD

JOHN PAYNE recently sold his friend Johnnie Davis some "Scat" sign some contracts—to make everything legal." Johnnie signed all copies. He later learned that he had willed his brain to a medical school, joined a flower-lovers association, ordered a gross of buggy whips, promised to do the Payne laundry and had guaranteed to meet Joe Louis in Madison Square Garden. That was one time his pen caused him some headache! Have you ever heard of vanishing footballs? Warner Brothers hadn't either until they began filming "The Cowboy Quarterback." Twenty-four footballs were bought to last throughout the making of gridiron scenes at Pasadena's famous Rose Bowl. At the end of the first day, all the balls had disappeared. Pretty girl extras in the grandstands had the stalwart gridiron heroes in the picture autograph footballs for them. Then they deflated them and sneaked them out as souvenirs. *

Pass Christian, Miss., July 3.—A marriage of much interest here and in DeLisle, Miss., was the wedding Wednesday at 2 p. m., of Miss Eunice M. Necessaire and Eldon Ladner at Our Lady of Good Hope Church with the Rev. R. J. Sorin, officiating at the double ring ceremony. The church was prettily decorated in pink and white with masses of hydrangeas on the altar and in the chancel. Tall baskets of fern and pink and blue flowers were placed on either side, and gold-colored candelabra held white tapers.

The bride, prettily attired in a wedding gown of white lace over white satin, entered on the arm of her father to Lohengrin's Wedding march. Her dress was made on tailored lines with long sleeves and short train. Her veil of illusion was held to her hair with a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses tied with tulle. Her attendants included Miss Eunice Necessaire as maid of honor; Mrs. P. H. Schrotter as matron of honor, Misses Evelyn Keel and Luvie Ladner as bridesmaids. They all wore dresses of sheer organdy made on princess lines with square necks outlined in natural lace. They were all in pink with the exception of the matron of honor who was gowned in blue with a sash of pink. Their bouquets were of shasta daisies.

The groomsmen were J. C. Necessaire and Clyde Netto; Dick Keel was best man, and Fred Peranich, Alden Keel, Tod Martinovich, and Ray Martinovich were ushers. The men in the wedding party wore white.

The little flower girls were Norma Gene Gavagni and Mary Beth Dubuisson. John Perastich was the singing bearer.

During the ceremony there was singing and music. Mrs. Daisy Keel accompanied by Mrs. Clarice Deadeau at the organ sang "Promised Me and I Love You Truly." As a recessional Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Necessaire of DeLisle. She comes of a widely connected and prominent family. She received her education at the Pass Christian schools and later attended Perkins Junior College. She is connected with D. H. Holmes Company in New Orleans.

The groom is the son of the late Mrs. D. Ladner and Mr. Ladner of New Orleans and DeLisle. He is well known in this community.

A reception followed with the traditional bride's cake centering the punch table. It was three-tiered and the bridesmaids did favors before the couple cut the cake. Mesdames T. Martinovich, Wm. Keel and Miss Keel presided at the punch table. The parents of the bride received the large number of guests with the bride and groom.

Later in the evening the couple left for a honeymoon, destination not announced. They will reside in New Orleans—Myrtle S. McDermott.
